Nature is collapsing

“More than half of global GDP
— over $50 trillion in annual economic activity —
is moderately or highly dependent on nature”¹

“Around 1 million species now face extinction, with monitored wildlife populations having declined by an average of 73% since 1970”²

Biodiversity loss is creating urgent & real business risks including:

Limited Access to Finance

Investors are increasingly assessing biodiversity risks in decision making.

200+ Financial Institutions

Managing €23 trillion of assets are committed to assessing nature risks across portfolios.³

Regulatory Compliance

Nature disclosures are mandatory and increasing from 2026.

2026 EU Mandatory Disclosures

Faced by companies with 1,000+ employees and €450M+ turnover.⁴

Disrupted Supply Chains

Agriculture, infrastructure, fisheries & raw material carry the highest risk.

$577b Food Production Risk

Annually from pollinator decline.⁵

Companies want to respond but they're struggling.

Don't know where biodiversity risks are - or how to act.⁶

Data is complex, fragmented, and hard to access at scale.⁷

Unable to track or report nature outcomes across portfolios.⁶

The market for solutions isn't going anywhere, its growing
